1	12/16/2015	HipHopDX	Martin Shkreli Plans To Bail-Out Bobby Shmurda	1. “I’m just getting fed up. If [rapper Ghostface Killah] doesn’t think I have the resources to do something, he fucking doesn’t know me. If Ghostface can make people disappear, what the fuck do you think I can do? I’ll fucking snap the CD on fucking TV and not even listen to it if that’s what he fucking wants.” 2. “People that know me know that there’s a little Bobby-equivalent in my blood, too. That comes from growing up on the edge of the hood, I would say. I’ve had guns pointed at me. I’ve had tons of that shit happen. I know that world. Not knee deep, but know it enough to know what it is. I’m definitely the real fucking deal. This is not a fucking act. I threatened that fucking guy and his fucking kids because he fucking took $3 million from me and he ended up paying me back. He called my bluff. He said, “You’re not fucking going to go after me.” [I said] “Yes I motherfucking will.” I had two guys parked outside of his house for six months watching his every fucking move. I can get down. I don’t think RZA knows that. I think he thinks I’m some powder puff white guy CEO that’s got too much money. No. No, no, no. I definitely don’t spend $2 million for nothing. That’s a lot of money, even if you’re Carl Icahn. I’d encourage him to shut the fuck up before he goes a little too far. We’ll see what happens. I think he’s a smart man. He definitely acts like his shit doesn’t stink and he invented rap. This concept of selling one album, this shit’s backfiring for him now....” 3. “If Taylor Swift wants to come over and suck my dick, I’ll play [the Wu Tang Clan album] for her.”	http://hiphopdx.com/interviews/id.2825/title.martin-shkreli-plans-to-bail-out-bobby-shmurda#

4	12/16/2015	Complex	The Guy Who Bought Wu-Tang Clan's One-of-a-Kind Album Wants to Bail Out Bobby Shmurda	"Shkreli, who is best known as the man who purchased an AIDS drug and jacked up the price, also talked about his deal with Wu-Tang for the album. He said that he wasn't happy with RZA's statement after the deal was announced and that if they had another meeting, it wouldn't go well. 'What the fuck does that mean? Fucking defend me. I didn't pay you $2 million to talk shit about me,' he said. In his statement, RZA said that the group was unaware of Shkreli's prior business practices when they made the original agreement."	http://www.complex.com/music/15/12/martin-shkreli-wants-to-bail-out-bobby-shmurda
5	12/16/2015	Vanity Fair	Pharma Bro Martin Shkreli Wants to Be a Rap Mogul, Bail Out Rapper Bobby Shmurda	"Shkreli, who referred to himself as 'the most successful Albanian to ever walk the face of this Earth,' did not take kindly to [Wu Tang Clan member RZA's] perceived slight [of Shkreli], and referred to the situation as an 'emerging war' between the two of them as part of an expletive-laden challenge: 'I bought the most expensive album in the history of mankind and fucking RZA is talking shit behind my back and online in plain sight. That's not the way I do business. If I hand you $2 million, fucking show me some respect.'"	http://www.vanityfair.com/news/15/12/martin-shkreli-bobby-shmurda-bail

6	12/17/2015	Mashable	Martin Shkreli's Greatest Hits of His Absolute Worst Moments	1. ““What the fuck does that mean?” Shkreli said when asked about the email. ‘I fucking make money. That’s what I do. That’s why I can fucking afford a fucking $2 million album. What do you think I do, make cookies? No, motherfucker. I sell drugs. [Laughs] I felt insulted.’” 2. “In that same interview, Shkreli said that he would let Taylor Swift listen to the album in return for sexual favors. We don’t feel the need to give those comments much more attention, so just use it as a reminder that he’s a pretty awful person.” 3. ““You know I’m Albanian? I’m the most successful Albanian ever to walk the earth,’ Shkreli once said with his usual understatement. Fortune investigated his claim and found it to be—surprise!—untrue, citing numerous Albanians including Jim and John Belushi, Regis Philbin, Eliza Dushku and Mother Teresa. When challenged by Fortune on whether Shkreli really considered him more successful than Mother Teresa, who saved lives, Shkreli replied, ‘Financially? I believe she prided herself on having no worldly possessions.’”	http://mashable.com/2015/12/17/martin-shkrelis-greatest-hits/#_BVdKkQyrGqb

8	12/19/2015	New York Daily News	'Pharma Bro' Martin Shkreli Plays Chess, Chats with OkCupid Dates During Bizarre Live Stream Day after Arrest	1. "One bachelorette asked who the 'scary man' in some of Shkreli's dating site profile pictures were. He said it was rapper Fetty Wap, and the woman wrote back, 'gross.'" "'Ur gross,' the boyish pharmaceutical executive responded." 2. "Some followers asked the mega-rich exec to play the one-of-a-kind Wu-Tang Clan album he bought for a reported $2 million. Shkreli — who previously refused to play it for the public, saying Taylor Swift could listen to it in exchange for sexual favors — played an R.E.M album instead."	http://www.nydailynews.com/news/national/pharam-bro-martin-shkreli-hosts-post-arrest-live-stream-article-1.2471172
9	12/19/2015	Vanity Fair	Everything You Know About Martin Shkreli Is Wrong—Or Is It?	1. "I don't mean to be presumptuous, but I liken myself to the robber barons." 2. "Of his social-media presence, he says, 'Anyone who knows me knows I am not that guy.' When I ask why he does it—and the speculation among those who know him ranges from an overbearing need for attention to an Asperger's-like inability to see things the way other people do—he says, 'I'm not sure I have all the answers.' The identity he creates, he says, is 'an extremely weird form of sarcasm.' Neither the Hamptons house nor the helicopter belongs to him, and the text accompanying the helicopter shot reads, 'Let's take the boat out on the bay and forget your job for just one day.' Do a quick Internet search and you'll find that these lyrics belong to a dark song by the punk band Blink-182: 'Why do I want what I can't get / I wish it didn't have to be so bad.' Of the outraged response to many of his tweets, he says, 'It's fun to see people get so animated.' He adds, 'Authenticity is really important to me.'"	http://www.vanityfair.com/news/2015/12/martin-shkreli-pharmaceuticals-ceo-interview

11	12/21/2015	Wall Street Journal	Martin Shkreli Says Drug-Price Hikes Led to Arrest	1. "'Trying to find anything we could to stop him, was the attitude of the government,' Mr. Shkreli said, flanked by his lawyers in a midtown Manhattan conference room Sunday afternoon. 'Beating the person up and then trying to find the merits to make up for it—I would have hoped the government wouldn't take that kind of approach.'" 2. "The 32-year-old, who tussled with presidential candidates and boasted of his romantic prowess on social media, now says that behavior has been 'a bit of an act.'" 3. 43	10/28/2016	Financial Times	Lunch with the FT: Can Martin Shkreli Defend Corporate Greed?	1. “When I arranged the Lunch, I was told that Shkreli would not want to discuss the impending court case. Yet he appears incapable of speaking about anything else. He confidently predicts that he will prevail, and that his notoriety will help sway the jury. ‘I have this fringe theory that I’ve sort of stress-tested a little bit — the more polarising and popular a case is, the more likely an acquittal,’ he says, citing the cases of OJ Simpson, Casey Anthony, who stood trial for her daughter’s murder, and Sean ‘P Diddy’ Combs, whose attorney now works for Shkreli. ‘What’s fascinating for all these cases? They were all widely seen to be guilty.’” 2. “‘If I’m greedy and addicted to money, she’s greedy and addicted to power — and apparently a little bit of money too,’” he says, referring to the millions of dollars in personal wealth amassed by Clinton, who delivered a series of lucrative paid speeches to Wall Street and Silicon Valley in the years following her tenure as US secretary of state. ‘I’ve built companies I can point to. What can she point to? A career in public service? She made a bunch of money doing that? It makes no freaking sense.’”	https://www.ft.com/content/693ad306-9b6d-11e6-8f9b-70e3cabccfae

				3. “In private, many executives blame him for the public outcry over the price of drugs that threatens to crimp their profits and bonuses. ‘I heard from a friend that these folks are actually jealous,’ he says of those who disavowed him. ‘They’re 60-something years old and they’re saying, “Oh gosh, he outsmarted us.” They can feign all the outrage they want but the reality is, I saw an opportunity in pharma, I made a huge fortune, and they didn’t. ‘They are no different from the maître d’ of this restaurant—they are there to look good, manage the place, act important and do absolutely nothing,’ he says, gesturing towards the head waiter. ‘And unlike the maître d’ they get paid a lot of money.’” 4. “Perhaps the only people who inspire more venom are former business associates, like the employee who quit his job shortly after receiving a large stock award. Shkreli responded by harassing his family—sending messages to his son on Facebook and posting a letter to his wife that read: ‘I hope to see you and your four children homeless and will do whatever I can to assure this.’ At last: something he must regret. Many people have said or done awful things when blinded by rage, but bringing his wife and children into things was surely a mistake. Would he take it back if he could? Not a bit of it: ‘I saw him to be a good family man and I wrote a relatively calm letter. I’d had success in the past appealing to the family ’” 5. “More recently, Shkreli has started to flirt with the alt-right, a loose political collective whose angry concerns are best defined by their gender and the colour of their skin: male and white. But despite his full-throated support for unbridled free markets, I sense he has little interest in the identity politics that fires up this contentious group. ‘It’s for sympathy, I suppose,’ he says. ‘People will defend me based on my inclusion.’” 6. ““To me the drug was woefully underpriced,’ he says. Rather, he thinks he should have charged a higher price still because Daraprim can keep people alive: ‘It is not a question of “Is this fair?”’, or “What did you pay for it?”’, or “When was it invented”. It should be more expensive in many ways.’”

70	1/13/2017	New York Post	Martin Shkreli: Sorry, Not Sorry for Trolling Journalist	1. “During an exclusive interview at his apartment in Manhattan — one he shares with Trashy, a rescue cat from Philadelphia — Shkreli downplayed the controversy, saying he took publicly available photos and created a collage ‘more reminiscent of a high school locker [room]’ than online harassment. ““I look back on it as a waste of time, no doubt,’ Shkreli told The Post. ‘I think it would help her to be a little more intelligent and a little less dramatic. She said she prizes rational discourse, but when I messaged her with an invitation, she did the exact opposite of rational discourse.’” 2. “Shkreli, 33, insists what he did was a product of ‘growing up on the internet,’ a forum where harassment, trolling and needling are part of the deal, where the separation of cables and wires and physical space allows people to say things they usually wouldn’t dare. ““To her, I’d say get off your high horse,’ Shkreli told The Post. ‘You’re not a political genius and I’m not sure why you think you have a lot to add to every political conversation ... She’s a speak-first, think-later person and that’s what bothers me about her. That’s why I needled her, that’s why I trolled her – because she is what I believe is a scourge. She does it for publicity ... but she has no substance and Tucker sort of exposed her I think a little bit in that regard.’”	http://nypost.com/2017/01/13/martin-shkreli-sorry-not-sorry-for-trolling-journalist/
